SCHUFA Clause Relating to Telecommunication Contracts

The customer hereby consents that Host Europe GmbH may forward data concerning the application for, commencement of and discontinuation of this telecommunications contract to the SCHUFA agency (Schutzgemeinschaft für allgemeine Kreditsicherung [General Credit Protection Agency]) that has jurisdiction over the customer's domicile, and further consents that Host Europe GmbH may receive information about the customer from SCHUFA.

Irrespective thereof, Host Europe GmbH shall also report to SCHUFA information arising in the event that this contract is not implemented as contractually agreed (e.g. termination owing to default in payment, application for a default summons concerning an undisputed claim, or compulsory execution measures). According to the Bundesdatenschutzgesetz [German Federal Data Protection Act], these notifications shall be given only insofar as necessary for protecting justified interests of Host Europe GmbH, a contractual partner of SCHUFA or the general public, and insofar as the customer's interests worthy of protection are not impaired as a result thereof.

SCHUFA shall store the data in order to be able to provide its affiliated credit institutions, leasing companies, retail companies, including mail-order companies and other companies that commercially provide monetary or trade credit to consumers or offer telecommunications services, with information for assessing the credit-worthiness of customers. Address details may, for the purpose of ascertaining debts, be passed on to companies that commercially collect debts and are contractually affiliated with SCHUFA. SCHUFA shall make the data available to its contractual partners only if these satisfactorily show a justified interest in having the data passed on. SCHUFA shall only pass on objective data without naming the lender; SCHUFA reports shall not include subjective value judgements or information on personal income or net worth situations.

The customer shall be entitled to receive information on its stored data from the SCHUFA agency that has jurisdiction over its domicile.

The customer hereby consents that, in the event of a change of address, the SCHUFA office that has jurisdiction over the customer's domicile may pass on the data to the SCHUFA office then having jurisdiction.

Further information on the SCHUFA procedure is contained in a brochure available from SCHUFA on request.
